Hotel Ave., San Francisco,
May 19, 1892.
Dear friend of women:
When my baby was born, five years ago, I got up in six days. Far too soon. Result: [illegible] of the womb. Ever since I've been miserable.
I tried everything: doctors, volumes, apparatus; but grew worse.
I could hardly stand; and walking without support was impossible.
At last I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. The effect was marvelous. Since I took the first bottle my womb has not troubled me, and, thanks only to it, I am now well. Every [illegible] woman should know how valuable your Compound is.
Yours faithfully,
Mrs. A. Hilbert.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.
The popularity of this preparation, after several years' trial, should be an assurance to the most skeptical, that it has merit. Those who have used it KNOW that it stops the falling of hair on bald heads, as the hair follicles are not entirely destroyed in the case; restores gray hair to its original color; promotes a healthy growth of fresh hair; possesses the elements necessary to nourish the hair, rendering it soft, pliant, lustrous and beautiful, and a dressing that will not soil the finest linen. Hall's Hair Renewer produces its results in a natural way. By the gentle influence of its action upon the glands, it makes the hair moist and healthful, which invigorates the hair. It is not a dye, and is unsurpassed as a dressing for toilet use. Contains no sediment, it does not evaporate, leaving the hair soft and pliable, restoring the natural oil, which keeps the hair from becoming harsh and brittle. as do other preparations.
Buckingham's Dye for the WHISKERS
Colors Whiskers brown or black, as desired, quickly and naturally. Because it is harmless; produces a permanent natural color; and, being a single preparation, is more convenient of application than any other.

Constipation
Demands prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. THE EARTH'S RICHES.

Geological Exhibits at the Cotton States Exposition.

To Be One of the Most Interesting Mineral Displays Ever Made in This Country—Some Unique Features.

Dr. David T. Day, chief mineralogist of the United States geological survey, has been appointed by the Atlanta exposition management to take charge of the whole mineralogic exhibit in the mining building. The mineral exhibit at the exposition promises, according to the Washington Post, to be one of the most interesting ever assembled in this country. While it may not be quite so large as that at the world's fair, it will have many novel features that were wanting in that exhibit, and the main collection will be assembled on a systematic plan that will make it a very valuable object lesson to visitors.

Dr. Day, in planning the exhibit, has been given larger powers than were held by the managers of the mining building at the world's fair, and he has so far chosen to exercise it by calling upon exhibitors for certain materials to complete the systematic collection rather than to leave it to individuals and companies to send what they chose.

This plan is rather relished by the exhibitors than otherwise, as it saves them the trouble of formulating a plan of their own for their particular exhibit, while Dr. Day, from his personal knowledge of the mineral resources of the country, is enabled to put his hand on just the material he needs that can be furnished by the producers of the various sections. The great feature of the systematic exhibit will be the arrangement of mineral products from the Appalachian system, which really includes in greater or less quantities everything from gold and diamonds to coal and sulphur.

A number of special features of interest are now being negotiated for. On Dr. Day's desk in the survey building is a slender shaft of parti-colored mineral that looks almost as though it might be good to eat. This is a small specimen of rock salt and potash salts from the famous Sassfurt beds of Germany, which will form an important feature in the contemplated collection and will be of very general interest to the south.

The potash salts are one of the chief constituents of corn and tobacco fertilizers that are used almost exclusively in the southern states. Nearly all of this variety of fertilizer comes from the Sassfurt mines of Germany, where the potash salt was discovered by accident. The Sassfurt beds form one of the greatest rock salt mines of the world and have been worked by the German government for years. Some time ago deep drillings were made to ascertain how deep the salt deposit extended. Far down below the surface it was found that the rock salt abruptly changed to potash salt, an immense bed of which formed the foundation of the mine. The demarkation is as sharp as in a block of harlequin ice cream, and the specimen on Dr. Day's desk is a section of the drill core where it passed from one deposit to the other.

Another feature of the exhibit will be a complete collection of southern gem stones. Though it is not generally known, North Carolina produces almost every variety of precious stone in greater or less quantities from diamonds to hiddenite, which is found nowhere else in the world. The largest crystal of this very rare stone, by the way, is owned in Washington, and will probably be secured to grace the Atlanta collection.

One of the big diamonds of the world will also be shown there. It is the Cotswell, not the largest stone, though well up in the front rank, being about the size of a big hickory nut, but in crystalline formation and purity one of the very finest gems that has ever been found. This stone is a product of the South African fields.

All the foreign governments will be invited to exhibit, and the wonderful Russian iron castings that were such an attraction at the world's fair will probably be secured for Atlanta. The Russians excel in this class of work, and what are undoubtedly the most beautiful art castings in iron in the whole world come from a little Siberian furnace one hundred and eighty miles from a railroad. The work turned out by these workmen equals high-class die work. These castings, if the exhibit is secured, will be made on the ground as souvenirs.

Returning to the native products of the south, there will be a classified exhibit of petroleum, shown with reference to its geology, from the fields of Kentucky and Tennessee, and from the better known and more fully developed regions of West Virginia.

Sulphur from the recently discovered deposits in Louisiana will also be shown. This deposit is very remarkable in its location, being underneath a bed of quicksand. There is plenty of it there, and a novel method of mining it is now being tried. Superheated steam is sent down in pipes, and the melted sulphur is then pumped out to the surface.

The contribution of the geological survey to the exposition will be a column of cubes representing the mineral products of the south. Each cube will represent the amount of that mineral produced in one minute by the combined southern mines. The base of the column on this scale will be a cube of southern coal fifty tons in weight.

Besides this the survey will contribute a classified collection of the mineral products of the United States. In connection with this there will be practical illustrations of the technical terms of mineralogy, such as "color," "streak," "luster," etc., thus enabling a novice to ground himself in the principles of mineralogy with a view to recognizing any minerals of commercial value he may meet with on his own land.

The survey will also have a large collection of lithograph and relief maps, and a lithograph map press in operation.

No Use for Soap.

A soap dealer who should open an agency in China would lose money. In many parts of China the children wear no clothes for many months in the year, and the majority of the people never wash. "Do you wash your child every day?" a Chinese mother was asked. "Wash him every day!" was the indignant response; "he was never washed since he was born!"

WOMAN ON A WHEEL.

She May Have a Good Time, But She Is Not a Thing of Beauty.

Bicycle riding for women may be a joy forever, but it is not a thing of beauty. If you're inclined to doubt this statement, says the New York Evening Sun, just take a stroll up the boulevard any fine day. Sunday preferred. The Sabbath seems to appeal particularly to the woman bicyclist. It isn't alone her much-discussed costume that violates all your accepted standards of the eternal fitness of things; the very act and motion of propelling "the wheel" becomes an extraordinary feat when performed by a woman. It looks neither graceful nor elegant, and this, too, no matter how slender and symmetrical of figure she may be. For that, though, there's no help. If women must indulge in bicycle riding, and if an awkward appearance is the inevitable penalty, then all that each individual may for herself consider is whether the game is worth the candle. But in the matter of suits there might surely be some improvement. That the becoming and graceful bicycle costume is yet to be invented is one of the strongest impressions resulting from a boulevard stroll. Now and then you see a costume not conspicuously dreadful, but the overwhelming majority recall the artist's criticism upon his pupil's latest picture. "That's not bad," said the artist. "No; it's not bad, it's worse." It would seem as though every style of bicycle suit had its own peculiar disadvantage. Bloomers, of course, entail masculine, not to speak of feminine, disapprobation. The short skirt is simply in the way and is little or no protection; the long skirt gets still more in the way, especially if it be full, while if scant it shows off the figure most unfortunately. A long-skirted bodice spreads out like a sail and catches the wind; a short-skirted bodice makes you wish it were longer. Wheel women, too, differ as to just which stye of suit is best adapted for riding. One of Philadelphia's best bicyclists declares that the only time she finds her long skirts in the way is when she dismounts her machine to climb a hill. All stout women, if one may judge from the spectacle upon the boulevard, are in favor of bloomers—and the stouter the woman the scanter the bloomers. Some riders wear their Easter bonnets and new spring capes when upon the bicycle just as they would when in a buggy; but although they present a grateful contrast to the bloomered chaperones of the track, such apparel has a certain unfitness. Not the least interesting feature of the boulevard show is the spectators. They gather thickly upon the sidewalk and gape for hours at the rapidly revolving wheels before them. Most of the crowd are men, and it is curious to watch the expression on their faces when they catch sight of a woman bicyclist. This expression is always the same, only varying in degree. Bloomers bring out its superlative qualities. It does not under any circumstances, however, suggest especial respect, reverence or admiration for the woman bicyclist; in fact, it seems hardly inclined to take her seriously at all. The sooner that she is taken seriously, however, both by the onlookers and by herself, the greater will be the chance of an improvement in her costume.

"To fire out," in the sense of a forcible ejection, is found in Shakespeare, in sonnet 144.

The words "Emerald Isle," as applied to Ireland, were first used by Dr. Drennan in a poem entitled "Erin."

"Cups that cheer, but not inebriate" are first mentioned by Cowper, in the "Task." The allusion is to teacups.

"To put a flea in his ear," to indicate a sharp rebuff, is a proverbial saying, found in all languages having a literature.

"Facts are stubborn things" is an aphorism first enumerated by La Sage in "Gil Blas." It has since become proverbial.

"No flies on him," given as an Americanism, is found in "Don Quixote," where it occurs as one of the sayings of Sancho Panza.

The word "flirtation," according to Lord Chesterfield, was manufactured by Lady Frances Shirley, who used it in the exact sense attached to it to-day.

MICROBES AND DIGESTION.

Germs Now Said to Be Absolutely Necessary to Proper Assimilation.

The ubiquitous microbe is known to present two sides or phases to its character. One is that of a disease-producing organism, the other that of the beneficent remover of decaying matter, writes Dr. Andrew Wilson, and of actually assisting the animal body to perform certain of its ordinary vital functions—digestion, to-wit. To what extent the animal may be dependent on microbes for its actual welfare is an open question, but if certain researches undertaken by Dr. J. Kijanizin, of the University of Kieff, are to be credited, there may indeed exist a closer alliance between germs and their hosts than has hitherto been deemed possible. This investigator experimented upon animals, feeding them on food which has practically been stellilized, and giving them air which had been rendered wholly germless. One result of this regimen was to limit the assimilation of nitrogenous matter; the idea here being that the presence of microbes in the digestive tract is necessary to effect this desirable end of nutrition. The microbes left in the intestine, or originally present there, no doubt accomplished much of the work; but the conclusion is that the microbes received with the food constitute an essential feature of healthy assimilation. Death was not the uncommon fate of many of the animals supplied with the sterilized food and air. This result may, perchance, arise from processes of self-poisoning such as the microbes, naturally present in air and food, obviate and prevent.

What seems specially interesting, however, is the new analogy which Dr. Kijanizin's experiments reveal between the animal and the plant worlds. Certain plants can only assimilate nitrogen through the action and aid of the microbes which live in nodules on their roots. In the absence of these friendly germs no assimilation of nitrogen is possible. Therefore the case of the plant would seem to be closely related to that of the animal, if it be proved that the nutrition of the latter cannot proceed naturally without the aid of the helpful microbes.

VALOROUS MACDADE.

An English View of the American Globe-Trotter's Task.

Dispensing, according to the conditions of his wager, with railway trains, ocean steamers, horses, mules and donkeys, sedans and palanquins, the valorous Macdade, says the London Telegraph, is bound to wear out an enormous amount of shoe leather, unless, indeed, he does as many more or less distinguished pedestrians have done before him—travel barefoot. An English tramp, unencumbered with shoes, will do his twenty miles a day blithely, and if he continued to trudge six days in every week—resting, of course, in some kindly union workhouse on the Sabbath—he would have walked six thousand two hundred and forty miles in the course of twelve months. It is, however, more than double that distance from Alexandria to the antipodes, and as he is bound not to avail himself of any of the ordinary facilities of travel, Macdade must go, perforce, a good deal out of his way at various points of his journey; thus he will have to walk much more than twenty miles a day. Seeking continually for the dry land, he may have to wander through Russia and Crim Tartary into China, and he may even make the acquaintance of the north pole. Does he take any money with him, or will he adopt one of the most ancient and, according to Charles Lamb, one of the most honorable of callings, and beg his way around the world? In any case, he has plenty of difficulties before him, even if the absence of cash enables him, like the traveler in the Latin adage, to sing in the presence of thieves. There may be lions in the path, to say nothing of tigers, bears, wolves and rattlesnakes. There may be sunstroke, and there may be frostbite. However, there are some daring spirits in whose dictionary the word "impossible" is not written, and among these exceptional individuals may be Mr. William Macdade.

ROYALTY OF EUROPE.

Twenty lives lie between the emperor of Germany and the British throne.

The prince of Wales is fifty-four years old and in very good health. He is said to be very reluctant to wear a king's crown.

Queen Victoria and Mrs. Julia Ward Howe not only look alike, but were born in the same year and are to-day in full mental vigor, though they will be eighty in 1899.

Prince Bismarck recently said to an American who had the pleasure of an interview with him that one of his greatest regrets was that he had never had an opportunity of visiting this country.

The czar is the most comfortably fixed, financially, of any European monarch. He has no civil list, salary or allowance. He just helps himself to all he needs, and the treasurer's only duty is to see those needs supplied.

King Humbert has laid the cornerstone of a monument to Garibaldi on the Janiculum at Rome, which it is hoped will be ready by the 20th of September, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the recovery of Rome to Italy.

NATIONALITY IN EGG EATING.

Curious Racial Characteristics Noted in New York Restaurants.

The philosopher who is to discover the ponderability of a man's "gray matter" by the way in which he eats boiled eggs is not yet risen among us, but it only requires the ordinary powers of observation and a moderate acquaintance with the restaurants of New York, says the Sun of that city, to discover that there are some very curious and clear indications of a man's nationality to be gathered from watching the way in which he performs this function.

To an Englishman, it will be seen, there is but one way in which to eat boiled eggs, and all other ways are heathenish and an abomination. It is necessary, in the first place, that his eggs be medium boiled—three and a half minutes is the standard, tower-marked time—and then brought to table in a napkin, with bread and butter, spoon, pepper and salt, and an egg cup. Not one of those heavy, partitioned things, of thick iron stoneware, with a goblet-like arrangement at one end and a smaller depression at the other, but a delicate little article of white china, with a plain gold band around the edge, a narrow band it should be, or, perhaps, a little spray of light tinted flowers painted on the sides. Into this cup of comfort the egg slides deeply, just leaving a sufficient amount of shell above the rim to be removed, and to remove this shell there is but one true method of procedure. The shell must be daintly chipped with the spoon, and the fragments must be removed with the same utensil. There are some people who brutally cut off the top of the egg with a knife and plunge the spoon at once in medias res, but these are generally "persons," and are by no means representative of the true and insular art of egg eating. It is allowable, under certain conditions, to use the fingers to remove the broken fragments of the chipped shell, but the use cannot be commended as good form.

Admiral Sir William Fanshawe Martin, Bart., G. C. B., who died recently at ninety-four, was the senior officer in the English navy. He entered the navy in 1815, and was a midshipman on one of the vessels blockading the Scheldt when the battle of Waterloo was fought.

Maj. Moses Austin Bryan, who died recently at Brenham, Tex., at the age of seventy-seven, was a veteran of the Texas war of independence, and was present at the meeting between Gen. Houston and Santa Anna after the capture of the Mexican general at the battle of San Jacinto.

SOLDIERS TO BE SPARED.

They Would Have Been Beheaded Under the Usual Custom.

The stipulation in the treaty of peace between China and Japan that the Chinese who have been captured by the Japanese and others who sold supplies to the Japanese troops in their march through Manchuria and Shantung shall not be punished by the Chinese authorities, was inspired by humane considerations. It is the custom of China to behead such of her soldiers as fall into the hands of the enemy, and are afterward returned to their country. During several naval and land engagements upward of five thousand Chinese troops were captured by Japanese, and it is to preserve their lives that the foregoing provision was inserted in the treaty. The same considerations influenced the other provision relative to the purchase of supplies from Chinese subjects. The curious fact develops in this connection that China has not a single prisoner of war belonging to Japan.

The United Press dispatch, which contained the exclusive announcement that the indemnity of two hundred million taels will be paid in seven yearly installments differs from official reports previously received, which limited the payment to five instead of seven installments. It is believed, however, that the statement contained in the United Press dispatch is correct. While no definite information has been received regarding the matter, it is understood that the indemnity will take the form of a bond issue on the part of China, the bonds to be retired during a period of seven years, and to bear interest at five per cent. per annum. The presumption is still very strong that the indemnity will be paid in silver.

Until the beginning of the war between China and Japan each country had a consular jurisdiction over its subjects in the other country. It would now appear that Japan will no longer grant this privilege to China, although stipulating for a continuance of this right for herself. The explanation given for this exception is that Japan is now a civilized country, with a code of laws based on the highest principles of justice and equity, and that she can be safely trusted, therefore, to deal fairly with the Chinese subjects living within her borders. China, on the other hand, it is asserted, is still a barbarous country, and foreigners there must receive the protection of their own country since little, if any, will be afforded to them by the local authorities.

NICHOLAS II. IN PEACE.

Russia's Interests Are at This Time All Opposed to War.

There is no safety in predicting any turn in a game in which a youthful monarch of Russia holds a strong hand, but, though many rumors have been running around about the new czar, Nicholas II., there seems no probability of his undertaking any inflammable role, says Col. T. O. Dodge in the Forum. Russia has so much more to gain in peace than war. Barely a third of her army has the new small-bore rifle, and it will be two years before the other regiments are so equipped. Her revenues are none too great. Russia needs her money for the great trans-Siberian railway, and she ought not to blow it out of the mouths of big guns. No doubt there is a tension in many of the international relations, but that is always present, and diplomats are growing more reasonable. It is probable that what has been said of the character of Nicholas is in the main true; and this should lead him to follow in the footsteps of his illustrious father and make Russia still the dictator of peace.

No man will be rash enough to say that war may not come. Every one of the continents has spots where an accidental outbreak, the blunder of an overzealous servant, may work such a hardship, actual or ideal, to some great power as shall call for an excited demand for reparation. It is then that cool heads, if not thick skins, are in demand; and it is then that the effervescence of journalists in search of circulation or notoriety does most harm. The human animal, according to his kind, is the silliest of all animals, if we measure him rightly. I know of no other that is capable of such irrational freaks, and it is on these that peace or war hangs by a hair. But, to resume, I do not believe, despite all the talk, that there is in the present status of the world a set of conditions which will lead to early war.

SURNAMES IN IRELAND.

Murphy the Commonest, But Smith Holds Its Own.

One of the curiosities of recent philological literature is the appendix to the 1893 report of the British registrar general, which bears the suggestive title: "Surnames in Ireland." From that compilation one who has an eye for the curious may glean facts and figures for a most interesting article. For instance, it is shown that the most common name on the Emerald Isle is Murphy, the number of persons, great and small, who bear that cognomen being 62,600. The following come next in frequency: Kelly, 55,800; Sullivan, 45,600; Walsh, 41,700; Smith, 35,700; O'Brien, 33,100; Byrne, 32,500; Ryan, 32,000; Connor, 31,200; O'Neil, 29,110, and Reilly, 29,000.

The compilers of the article under consideration, says the Albany Argus, have very accommodatingly made a comparison of the above with the commonest names in England and Wales, which shows the following interesting figures: Commonest names in Great Britain, exclusive of Scotland and Ireland, Smith, 275,606; next, Jones, 242,100; next following being Williams, Taylor, Davies and Brown, in the order as given. In Scotland the order is Smith, McDonald, Brown, Thomson, Robertson, Stewart and Campbell.

The tables show that in Ireland many of the old Celtic names appear both with and without prefixes "O" and "Mac." For the benefit of those of our readers who may never have seen the explanation I will say that, as a rule, "Mac" or "Mc" means "son of," and that "O" stands for "descendant of."

As far as local distribution is concerned, the Murphys are most numerous in Carlow and Wexford, Byrne in Dublin and Wicklow, Kelly in Kildare, and Sullivan in Cork and Kerry.

POSSESSIONS OF A TRAMP.

A Wayfarer Who Was Prepared for Any Emergency.

Probably there wasn't another person in the state so well prepared for emergencies as a tramp who has just visited Saco and Biddeford. He had no overcoat, but, as he wore two coats, two thick vests, two pairs of trousers and plenty of underclothing, he didn't miss one much.

When he wandered into the police station, says the Lewiston (Me.) Journal, he bore a big bundle consisting of a heavy comforter rolled in a piece of oilcloth. In his pockets were found several dozen of loose matches and a box of parlor matches, a big roll of newspapers, two dozen railroad time tables, a box of salve, a bottle of insect powder, two harmonicas, a lot of cards, a handful of toothpicks, a shoestring, a wire nail, a collar button, a lead pencil and a carpenter's pencil, a box of indelible leads, an illustrated catalogue of rubber shoes, a purse with six cents and an old copper, three broken clay pipes, a new pocketbook, a piece of silk hat lining, two pieces of castile soap, two sand rollers, three seashells, a broken clamshell, a knife, a plug of tobacco, some fishing tackle, a spool of thread, a piece of wood, a paper of needles, a roll of birch bark, a suspender buckle, a package of cigarette pictures, a notebook containing several sketches of Bar Harbor and vicinity, a chestnut, an acorn, a whetstone, a dozen pieces of rock, a new whisk broom, a pocket comb and a big spoon.

THE PARROT KEPT HIS HEAD.

Though Badly Shaken by an Explosion He Didn't Forget to Mock Afterward.

Marshall P. Wilder is never chary of his stories, says a New York exchange. Either they are inexhaustible or he doesn't fear that they will lose their edge by private repetition. Here is a late one: "Two Yankee sailors strolled into a show in Guatemala, where a prestidigitateur was entertaining the audience. A parrot was perched on the back of the bench where they sat. After every surprising feat one sailor would turn to the other with the remark: 'That was pretty good!' I wonder what will come next?' That was repeated till it made the parrot tired. Presently one of them threw down a burning match with which he had lighted his pipe. It fell through a crack in the floor and into a powder magazine. Biff! went the whole building, people and all, and nothing was left but a hole in the ground and the parrot, which was uninjured though badly shaken up. The bird pulled itself together, straightened out its feathers, flapped its way to a heap of ruins and croaked: 'That was pretty good! I wonder what will come next?'"

WANT WHAT THEY CAN'T GET.

How a Certain Little Human Weakness Affects the Furniture Trade.

"John," said a furniture salesman, the other day, to the mover whom he had summoned, "this bedroom set is sold, but it is not to be delivered just yet. Move it out of the salesroom at once and store it somewhere until I want it."

"What's the use of moving it until you send it up to me?" asked the purchaser, idly. "Why don't you leave it where it is?"

The salesman, says a New York exchange, uttered a queer little laugh and said:

"It is evident that you were never in the furniture business, or you would not ask that question. If I should mark that set 'sold' and leave it here in the salesroom in plain sight it would probably lose us several good sales."

"How so?" asked the purchaser, with an unbelieving look.

"It illustrates a universal weakness of human nature," laughed the salesman. "Everybody wants what he can't get, and there is nothing quite so attractive to the average buyer as a piece of furniture that somebody else has bought before he came around. If I left that bedroom set out marked 'sold' half a dozen persons would say before night that it was exactly the set they wanted, and when they heard there were no duplicates they would fuss around enviously and nothing else in the establishment would satisfy them.

"Eventually they would go off discontentedly and buy elsewhere, though the chances are that if there were no 'sold' tag on the set none of them would give it more than a passing glance, while a fair proportion of them would purchase other sets. It is a little the human weakness, that is all."

So arises one of the tricks of the trade. When a dealer sells a piece of furniture of which he has no duplicates he hustles it out of the salesroom as quickly as he can, lest it lose him other trade. But when he sells a piece of furniture of which he has duplicates he puts a big "sold" tag on it and leaves it in open sight as long as possible for a bait to others.

SPORTS AND PLEASURES.

At the suggestion of the king of the Belgians Ostende will have a yachting week next June, to which foreign boats are invited.

The Girton team of Cambridge played a match of hockey with Alexander college, the woman's college of Dublin university, and the game was a draw.

Buenos Ayres will soon witness the completion of the largest opera house in the world. It will seat five thousand persons, and the stage will hold eight hundred people.

J. E. Andrews, of Washington county, Minn., has beaten the record as a skate jumper. His last jump, made at Stillwater, covered eighteen feet. Five hundred persons witnessed the jump.

At Krakow recently a theatrical manager obtained permission to perform "Julius Cæsar," provided the "soldiers were not dressed in the uniform of the imperial and royal Austrian army."

Henry Irving has been lecturing at the Royal institute, London, with the avowed purpose of begetting a warmer interest in the drama in England. He is not obliged to waste his time in such an effort in this country.

Victorien Sardou is an indefatigable worker when staging one of his plays, and he has an eagle's eye for details. At a recent dress-rehearsal in Paris he compelled an actor to leave the stage and delay the action of the play until a frayed button on his coat was replaced by a new one.

THE MODERN WOMAN.

Too much use of the opera glass is one reason so many city women of fashion have bad eyes and must deform themselves with eyeglasses—so says an oculist.

Mrs. George W. Cable, the wife of the novelist, is one of the most beautiful women seen in literary circles. She has forget-me-not blue eyes, an oval face, perfectly regular features and a complexion like a white rose leaf—all this though her hair is white and her oldest daughter just married.

"The greatest boon fashion has given us this great while," said a woman who loves style and hates dirt, and has, consequently, been torn with conflicting emotions ever since long skirts came back on us, "is wire in dress skirts. When the bottom of a skirt is wired it makes it possible to hold it up so that it will not drag in one place while you are showing your garters in another."

Dr. Joux Wood, archæologist and student of art, says the modern woman's figure differs decidedly from the typical woman of Greek art and not altogether for the worse. She, the modern Caucasian woman, has more tapering limbs, that is, smaller wrists and ankles, and, strange to say, a deeper, finer chest. In carriage, too, the modern ideal is for a more erect position and a flatter back.

Nature's Lightning Rod.

M. Ovaroff, the Russian electrician of Moscow, and Prof. Hischrt, government forest inspector of the same city, have made some investigation concerning the liability to lightning stroke of certain species of trees. In the summers of 1893 and 1894, the two scientists mentioned spent 109 days in the great forests between Moscow and Remeroff, and during that time found 597 trees that had recently been struck by lightning. Of the total number of marked trees 302 were found to be white poplar (populus alba), this notwithstanding the fact that that species is not any ways near as common as a half dozen or dozen other varieties. On Ovaroff's suggestion the government recommends that the peasants use it as a lightning conductor.

Aluminum is to be adopted as a substitute for iron and steel in the French army. In view of the absence of roads and the steepness of the tracks in Madagascar, the kettles and other impedimenta of the troops taking part in the expedition,

EBENSBURG, CAMBRIA CO., PA.,

FRIDAY, - - - - JULY 12, 1895.

THERE is a fine of $15 for not destroying Canada thistles, and it is also the duty of the supervisors throughout the state to cut and destroy the same where they may be found growing along the public highway.

THE State Democratic Executive Committee met at Philadelphia on Tuesday July 2nd, and fixed upon Williamsport, Wednesday September 11th, as the place and time for holding the next Democratic state convention.

IT is becoming more evident every day that when Governor Hastings undertook to strip Quay and turn him loose in Washington he undertook a larger work in that line that the unsavery job he successfully accomplished a few years ago.

AMERICAN horse meat has found a great market in Germany. Horse meat sells there for seven cents per pound and 12 cents per pound smoked. The German horse butcher pays on an average $35 dollars a piece for worn out horses—American fresh horses bring better prises.

EX SENATOR CAMERON, of West Virginia, is of the opinion that prosperity is already effecting a cure of the free silver craze. It certainly is pleasant medicine, as the silverites themselves must admit; and, moreover, there is ample assurance that there will be enough of it to go around.

A HARRISBURG dispatch states that Governor Hastings signed the religious garb bill to keep members of the patriotic societies in line in his fight against Senator Quay. Hastings believes the bill is unconstitutional, and has so declared himself, but he wants to shift the responsibility for knocking it out on the court.

RECENTLY a shipment of steel manufactures from Youngstown, O., to England was reported. This is something of more than ordinary importance. Is it possible that the United States manufacturers are able to undersell the Englishmen in their own market? It looks like it. What about that argument of protection now?

THE coinating of silver dollars in the the United States mint, begun on June 4, was finished on Saturday. The number counted having been 49,999,267. The greatest number counted on any one day was 2,725,000, on June 17. The counting of the gold and silver bars was begun on Monday, and it is expected that the work will be finished in about ten days.

A CHICAGO journal, the Tribune, has compiled a list of 250 firms in the United States, employing no less than 250,000 men, whose wages have been advanced on an average of 12 per cent. within the past ninety days. This is doing right well for a Republican paper that was predicting calamity and blue ruin about the time the Wilson law went into operation.

OFFICIAL figures, compiled at the postoffice department, show that the total number of stamps of all kinds issued to postmasters during the fiscal year just closed was 2,823,000,000, valued at $56,885,418. This amount is an increase in valuation of $4,000,000 over last year. The total value of envelopes issued to postoffices was $12,036,019, and postal cards, $4,968,161.

ON Tuesday at the New York Produce Exchange wheat took a drop of 5 cents a bushel while the day previous it dropped 3 cents making 8 cents in two days. Prices shot downward owing to the lower foreign markets, favorable weather at the Northwest instead of frost, favorable crop advices from Russia, small clearances, the absence of a cash demand east or west and large world's shipments

THE unpopularity of the standard silver dollar in business is shown by the fact that with all that has been done by the treasury department to increase the circulation of silver dollars, only about 52,000,000 are now in use in the United States, as against $480,000,000 in gold. As the government pays the expressage on silver dollars, it manages to get them out, but only to have them come back wherever it is easy to return them.

A BIRMINGHAM, Ala., paper says: "Superintendent and Chief Engineer Erskine Ramsay, of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, has sold to the Cambria Iron Company of Johnstown, Pa., the patent rights to a coal washer, which his brain formulated. Mr. Ramsay is one of the mining engineers of the country and he is well known not only in this district, but throughout the state. Heretofore coal washers were to be secured only in the North, but Mr. Ramsay went to work and made one that is said to have been the best ever yet put on the market. He is now securing a patent in Washington.

MRS. CATHARINE O'LEARY died in Chicago on the 3d. She was the owner of the fractious cow which in a barn in the rear of No. 137 Dekoven street, on a memorable night in October, 1871, kicked over a lamp and started a blaze which cost Chicago $190,000,000. Since the night of that historic conflagration Mrs. O'Leary's life was burdened by the charge that she was responsible for the loss of life and enormous destruction of property. She denied the story vigorously, and before the committee which investigated the fire and its causes made affidavits that the allegations about herself and the cow and the lamp were not true.

IN recalling his veto of the normal school appropriation bill the governor, says the Harrisburg Patriot, has sought to establish a precedent that is not only unlawful but dangerous. It appears that on Saturday the governor filed with the secretary of state his veto of this bill and public proclamation of the veto was made in the rotunda of the capitol. Yesterday he ignored his veto and gave the bill his approval.

A bill properly passed by the legislature and duly signed by the proper officers of the house becomes a law after the legislature has adjourned with or without the governor's signature unless he shall file the same, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth and give notice thereof, by public proclamation, within thirty days after such adjournment. In this instance the governor prevented the bill from becoming a law by filing it with his objections in the office of the secretary of state and caused his disapproval to be publicly proclaimed. This was done on Saturday. Yesterday the bill was signed.

Where might not this lead? If the the governor can recall a bill one day after vetoing it he can recall it ten days after. If he can recall an appropriation bill he can recall any other kind. In the hands of a corrupt executive such power as this could be most dangerously and most basely used and abused.

We do not question the wisdom of the arrangement made by the governor whereby the appropriations were saved to the schools. We do not regret that he was able to see a way clear to aid these useful institutions. But we do regret that the second thought of the governor was not his first. The precedent is too dangerous to excuse even its good intentions.

IT is significant of the active and prosperous condition of the iron industry that the annual adjustment of the wage scale in Western Pennsylvania and in Ohio has not yet been accompanied by the usual controversy between employers and employes. A satisfactory agreement was reached last week in Youngstown, O., and on Monday of this week the same basis of wages was adopted in Pittsburg by a conference committee of the Amalgamated Association and the iron manufacturers. Under the sliding scale of wages the advance in the prices of iron and steel has given the men a substantial increase in their pay; and with prospects of a year of steady employment there is nothing to break the harmonious relations which exist between the manufacturers and their employes. It is rarely that Pittsburg mills are so busy with urgent orders that they skip the usual midsummers shut down for repairs.

IN the downward tendencies of Republican politics in Pennsylvania it is something new to witness the struggle of a governor for the chairmanship of a state convention of his party. Among the decent political traditions in this commonwealth it has been held that the governors exalted office placed him above partisan turmoil and strife. Once induced into office he has been regarded as the head, not of party, but of the state. But Governor Hastings comes down from his high place and makes himself a chieftain of a faction of a party. His announcement that he seeks a distinction which should be conferred upon him spontaneously or should not be accepted at all, is a signal for a conflict of faction in Pennsylvania that threatens to be of unexampled violence and fury.

THE Philadelphia Ledger says: "If the warring Republican factions in this state continue to pursue their bickerings they may jeopardize their state ticket, notwithstanding the enormous party majority obtained last November. The Democrats have a fashion of getting together when there is a chance for victory, and the scandals growing out of the distribution of patronage for the purposes of primary elections, the great increase in the number and salary of state officials, the disgust with the brazen recklessness of the legislature and with the spectacle of a disreputable city councils, are not conductive to the polling of the full Republican vote. Besides public opinion is not averse to wielding a lively club at the heads of spoilsmen in an off year such as this."

THE New York Herald, reviewing improved business conditions, says: When the new tariff took effect last August the business depression was universal, our foreign commerce crippled by nearly four years of McKinleyism and our import trade (from which the customs revenue of the government is derived) was at its lowest ebb. Much time was needed for national convalescence from this morbid condition. And the Wilson law has not yet had half a chance to produce the good effects which it will surely produce. Republican "protectionists" may spare themselves the useless trouble of stirring up a new tariff war. If the revenues are deficient next winter they can be easily increased by slight modifications of the internal revenue laws. "Let us have peace!"

THE action of Representative Lawson, of Georgia, in coming out against the free coinage of silver sixteen to one is regarded as a matter of considerable importance to the sound money cause. The Georgia delegation has stood solidly for silver in congress, and Lawson is one of the prominent men of the delegation. His conversion to the side of the administration has been a thing of slow growth, and his public announcement is significant as well as important. He is a man of influence in his section of the state, but he is not given to rashness. He was probably very well satisfied that the growing sentiment was in that direction before he ventured to announce his conversion.

THE only industry that has been paralyzed by the Democratic times is calamity wailing.

Washington Letter.

Washington, July 6, 1895.—Secretary Morton believes that dollars and cents talk Democratic economy more convincingly than any man can, and he lives up to his belief. At the close of his first fiscal year in charge of the department of agriculture he converted into the treasury $627,115, which remained unexpended out of that year's appropriation. For the fiscal year which ended last Sunday he has made even a more pronounced saving. The total appropriation for the last year was about $100,000 less than for the previous fiscal year, yet there remains unexpended about $700,000.

The removal of Prof. Harrington from the head of the weather bureau was not surprising to those who knew of the relations existing between that official and his immediate superior in office, Secretary Morton. He would have been removed long ago if Secretary Morton had not been disposed to look over his many acts of insubordidation because of his acknowledged superior scientific acquirements, but there is a limit to all things and that limit was reached in this case several weeks ago. President Cleveland asked for Prof. Harrington's resignation and when that gentleman declined to submit it he dismissed him. That's all there is to tell. The attempt of Prof. Harrington and his personal friends to create the impression that he was a martyr to his devotion to the scientific work of the bureau and that he was removed because he objected to the removal of his skilled subordinates is too silly even for midsummer.

Captain Howgate was this week sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary for embezzling government funds, but he will remain in the Washington jail until his appeal has been passed upon, which will be at the fall term of the court.

Senator Hill must be highly pleased with the movement started by Secretary Olney towards improving our consular service and making it the working partner of our commercial interests that it ought to be, by sending out consuls who are better qualified for their duties than many who are now in the service, as it has long been a subject of great interest to him. In a speech on the naval appropriation bill, during the last session of congress, Senator Hill, while commending the wise expenditure of large sums of money for the educating and training of boys to be naval officers, asked pertinently, "but what are we doing for educating and training those who are to be our diplomatic and consular agents?" Secretary Olney can count upon earnest support from Senator Hill, if any congressional action shall be needed to carry out his ideas for the improvement of the consular service.

Extremes will certainly meet, if the scheme, said to have originated with certain New England opponents of Reed, to boom Senator Chandler, ("Little Billee") for the vice presidency on the Harrison ticket, shall be successful. Mr. Harrison, as everybody knows, belongs to the silk stockinged, I-am-holier-than-you class of Republicans, and his strongest card is his professed piety, while "Little Billee," who has rejoiced in the title of chief blackguard of the senate ever since he managed by ways devious and dark to break into that organization, as champion and pal of that class of Republicans which glories in its wickedness; its ability to pack a convention, wipe out an opposition majority by manipulation of the ballots cast—in short, its general cussedness Such a ticket would harmonize quite as well as one composed of Bob Ingersoll and Dr. Talmadge, and would stand just about as much chance of being elected. "Little Billee" succeeded in corrupting the voters of New Hampshire to a sufficient extent to get himself in the senate, but he will never succeed in becoming vice president, or even in getting himself nominated for that office. "Little Billee" is very rich, although when he first came to Washington as a minor official of the government he was dead poor—as poor as John Sherman was at the beginning of his official career—but he doesn't turn loose his money, willingly enough to obtain control of a Republican national convention. It has never been "come easy and go easy" with his money, although the most of it came to him without any greater effort than was required to recognize the opportunities which came his way. But it is really ridiculous to treat seriously the idea of the nomination of such a man for vice president. M.

An Unfortunate Minister.

South Bethlehem, July 7.—A curious accident has brought Rev. S. H. Phillips, of Durham, Bucks county, to what may prove to be his death bead. A girl jabbed him with a pin, and blood poisoning developed. Yesterday his left leg was amputated in the hospital here. When visiting a neighbor's house about six weeks ago, he remained for dinner. He was seated upon the porch, chatting with several young ladies, when the call for dinner came.

He was slow in responding and one of the ladies took a stick pin from her throat and intended to prick him in the leg slightly. As she struck at him, he raised his leg and the pin was jabbed into the flesh to the bone. For two weeks Rev. Philips has been dangerously ill with blood poison, and his leg was amputated in the hope of saving his life, but the surgeons think he will hardly recover. He is 29 years old.

Fatal Cave-in of a Sewer.

Scranton, Pa., July 8.—At 3:30 this afternoon while a large force of men was engaged in digging a sewer ditch in Brown's alley, the ditch caved in, burying two Italian workmen. A big force of men rushed to their rescue and one of them was finally dragged out, dangerously injured but alive. The work of rescuing the other man was resumed and just as he was uncovered a water pipe burst, causing the rescuers to flee and again burying the Italian. When he was reached a second time he was found to be dead. He was named Joe Laconabut and was such a stalwart fellow that he was always called "Big Frank." The ditch that gave way was regarded as dangerous and men were about to repair it when the cave-in occurred.

Found His Wife Re-married.

Macon, Ga., July 5.—A peculiar Enoch Aaden story comes from Waycross. Dr. Brown returned a day or two ago, after an absence of twenty-five years and found his wife the spouse of a well-to-do citizen. Brown went to France to look after a legacy. A quarrel with his lawyer resulted in the murder of the latter, and Brown was sent to prison for twenty-five years. His first act on being released was to come to Georgia to his wife. She had long since given him up as dead and had been married twice. Her present husband is A. B. Thomas. Brown's grief on finding her wedded to another man was intense. He asked her and her husband to visit him, but she declined. Brown has gone away, discouraged and heartbroken.

Nine Men Badly Injured.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 8.—Nine men were badly injured by the derailing of a trolley car at North Buffalo this morning.

A gang of seventy-five Italians and Poles boarded the car to go to Towanda, where they were engaged in grading the new electric road between this city and Niagara Falls. Just after the car left the station the motorman noticed that something was wrong with the brakes. The car was then on a steep grade and its speed increased until it reached a frightful velocity. The car went bounding over the rails and the passengers grew terribly excited and it was with difficulty that they were restrained from jumping off.

For three quarters of a mile the car went rushing along, until it struck a curve and jumped the track, tumbling over and over into the ditch and being reduced to kingling wood. Two of the passengers who escaped injury went to the assistance of those beneath the car and soon had them removed. Nine were found to be quite badly injured, but only two—Victor Marcel, a Pole, and Pasquelo Sualle, an Italian—were seriously hurt.

Wild Men of Maine.

Augusta, July 5.—Four curious specimens of humanity have been confined in Norridgewook jail, accused of sheep stealing. They were arrested in Brighton.

They belong to a gang of about 40 persons who have no homes, but who have lived until recently near the Canadian line, like wild beasts in the summer and in caves during the winter. They wear little or no clothing, and their backs, which have long been exposed to the sun and weather are covered with a growth of hair fully three inches long. It is hard to make sense out of their conversation, although they have learned to swear so they are understood. One of the men, a giant in form, is an idiot. His sides are full of small holes made by a brad in the end of a stick, when he has been yoked to an ox.

The day they were placed in jail they had a fight among themselves and tore all the clothing off each other's bodies Police are after others of the tribe of wild men.

Substituted Sheep's Bone.

Philadelphia, July 5.—An extraordinary bone grafting was performed at the Hahnemann hospital in this city yesterday, expert surgeons substituting a part of a sheep's leg for a diseased bone in the leg of 15-pear-old Boyd Folwell. The physicians say to day that their patient is doing well, although it is too early to determine whether the operation will prove a success.

The entire operation was carried on under the strictest antiseptic treatment and as soon as the sheep had served its purpose its throat was cut.

Only a few operations have been successfully carried out, the earlier method of employing pounded animal bone, decalcified, having been almost universally unsuccessful. If the operation comes up to the expectations of the surgeons, the boy will walk and run as well as he ever did in his life.

May be Trouble at Sharon.

Sharon, Pa., July 7.—A car load of negroes from Allegheny county arrived here to-day to take the places of the strikers in the Sharon iron works. The negroes are quartered in the company's houses near the mill. Hundreds of strikers are in the vicinity, and the situation looks so threatening that extra police have been sworn into office. The strike resulted three weeks ago, by the day hands quitting because the company refused to grant them an advance of 10 cents. About 900 men are idle. The negroes are expected to take the place of the strikers to-morrow morning. Three of the more timid negroes were sent home at the strikers' expense, for the purpose of notifying other negroes to stay away from Sharon.

The Outlaws Convicted.

Kingwood, W. Va., July 8.—The trial of the Pennsylvania outlaws was concluded this morning by the jury's verdict of guilty. The outlaws, Bud Smiley, Hank Harvey and Archibald Patterson, were indicted for feloniously shooting upon one count and for unlawfully shooting on the second count. The jury found them guilty of unlawful shooting, the penalty for which is imprisonment from one to five years in the penitentiary. These outlaws shot and dangerously wounded Sheriff Shaw, of this county, who, with a posse, was attempting their arrest for horse stealing. The prisoners live in Fayette county, Pa. Their sentence has not been passed.

A Sweeping Decree.

New York, July 8.—The Times will say to-morrow: "The Rev. Thomas A. Ducey, pastor of St. Leo's Roman Catholic church in this city, is authority for the statement that the pope has promulgated a decree abolishing all the days of abstinence in the year, excepting Fridays even during lent. This decree, however, is applicable only to poor persons and their families."

That such a papal decree had been issued has been surmised in Catholic circles for some time. That it is an absolute fact Father Ducey assured a reporter for the New York Times last night.

Williamsport, July 5.—William Mays, a teamster in the Pine Creek lumber region, had a thrilling escape from awful death. He was driving a load of bark with two horses attached, along the edge of a chasm 300 feet deep.

Mays, the team and wagon were precipitated over the edge. Mays lodged in the top of a hemlock tree. A moment later a rolling boulder struck him and knocked him senseless into the abyss. Fortunately he again lodged, this time in the deep crevice of a rock, where he was found unconscious by rescuers. Both horses were killed and the wagon broken to kindling wood.

Buzzards Bay, Mass., July 7.—Just before 5 o'clock to-night news reached the village that a girl baby had been born at Gray Gables. The report was soon verified by Dr. Bryant, who announced that the happy event occurred at 4:30 P. M., and that both mother and little one were doing as well as could be expected. This is the third child to be born into the president's family and all of them are girls. Ruth is 4 years old and Esther 2. Mrs. Cleveland's mother, Mrs. Perrine, is expected to arrive from Buffalo this week.

The Keystone of the Arch.

In the edifice of health is vigor, which means not merely muscular energy, but an active discharge of the various functions of the body such as digestion, secretion of the bile, the action of the bowels, the circulation of the blood. Nothing more actively and thoroughly contributes to the united performance of these functions than the renowned tonic and regulator, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The result of its use is a speedy gain in strength, together with the agreeable consciousness that the tenure of life is being strengthened—that one is laying up a store of vitality against the unavoidable draughts which old age makes upon the system. The fortifying influence of the Bitters constitute it a reliable safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble. Appetite and sleep improve through its use, and it protects the system from the effects of cold and damp.

—Rev. Father Kittell, of Loretto, and his brother, M. D. Kittell, Esq., of this place, will take a trip to Europe this summer taking their departure from New York about the 1st of August on one of the ocean flyers.

—Thieves gained an entrance into the Catholic church at Carrolltown on Monday night and secured a small sum from the collection boxes. The convent near by was also visited but the miscreants were scared away.

—John Young, aged fifteen, son of Joseph M. Young, of Johnstown, in attempting to get on a moving street car in that city on Sunday morning, fell to the track and a trailer passed over his right leg just below the knee. He was taken to the Memorial hospital where the surgeons amputated the leg below the knee-joint.

—Emanuel Smith, of Jackson township, was in town on last Friday night. While standing on James' corner some one threw a large fire cracker at his feet. He stooped down and was in the act of picking it up when it exploded, badly mangling two fingers of his right hand. Dr. Jones dressed the wounds and it is among the probabilities that Mr. Smith will have a very sore hand for some time to come.

—On the morning of the Fourth, Mr. Herman Jones, of Cambria township, met with an accident in which he had a narrow escape from being seriously hurt. He was driving into Ebensburg and when turning at the intersection of Mary Ann and High streets, before he was aware of the fact his horse was in close proximity to a bunch of fire crackers that was popping off in rapid succession. His horse suddenly wheeled, throwing Mr. Jones from the buggy and after dragging him some distance got loose and ran out the pike, making a complete wreck of the buggy. With the exception of a few slight bruises Mr. Jones escaped unhurt.

—The Altoona Tribune of Wednesday says: Mr. M. J. Beezer returned from Pittsburg last evening on Philadelphia Express. During his stay in the Smoky City he closed a contract with Ritter & Conley for the furnishing of the structural steel work in the towers, walls and roof of the new St. John's Catholic church, Johnstown, Pa. About 700,000 pounds will be required. The steel skeleton frame in the main tower will be 185 feet high, on which the cross will be riveted before the corner stone is laid. The construction of this church will undoubtedly create a new era in church construction as this method has heretofore never been employed in church building.

—William J. Magehan, a former well-known resident of Johnstown, died at Dixmont insane asylum on Sunday night, aged forty-nine years. The deceased was a son of Michael Dan Magehan, Esq., deceased, who in his lifetime was a prominent member of the Cambria county bar, and who died in Ebensburg in the early sixties. William Magehan was born in Ebensburg and resided here up until 1862, when he enlisted as a drummer in Company B., 133rd Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, and served until the regiment was mustered out May 23, 1863. He then took up his residence in Johnstown and for a number of years was first a fireman and then and then an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad. For several years past his mind has been impaired which necessitated his confinement in Dixmont. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Dorsey King and Mrs. Louis Baumer, both of Johnstown.

Correspondence.

ED. FREEMAN:—In the late Gallitzin school case Judge Barker decided that "the prohibition of the appropriation of money raised for the support of the public schools to sectarian schools includes (the prohibition of) the use of the public school buildings for any sectarian purpose." He furthermore decided that school directors cannot legally give the use of public school buildings for "any other purpose foreign to public school instruction. This must be sound law, for his decision was affirmed by the supreme court of the state.

I read lately in the columns of the Mountaineer that a certain minister of Ebensburg was to hold, and actually did hold, religious services in the public school house at Vintondale. I cannot believe this news to be true, for it seems to be altogether improbable that any board of school directors in Cambria county would, with the Gallitzin decision so fresh in the public mind, commit such a flagrant violation of the school laws of the state; or that any minister of the gospel, whose duty it is to uphold law and order, would cooperate so publicly in such violation.

But if it be true, the question naturally occurs, why do not the Junior Mechanics, who are said to be numerous and influential in Cambria county, take proper and immediate steps to prevent the diversion of our public schools to such bold sectarian uses? A. M.

A Fatal Shooting.

On Wednesday morning, July 3, William A. Strayer, a resident of Altoona, who had been working at Dunlo, was shot in the back at the latter place by Christ H. Block, a special officer of Dale borough, who, with W. F. Cook, another officer of Dale borough, had gone to Dunlo for the purpose of arresting C. C. Blake and William A. Strayer for fast driving in Dale borough on June 30th. Strayer was taken to the Altoona hospital after he was shot and died on Friday morning. At the inquest held in Altoona on Monday the following facts were developed about the shooting:

On June 30th Messrs. Strayer and Blake drove into Dale borough and Special Officer Black endeavered to stop the team, but Strayer whipped up the horse and they got away. Dale's chief of police, learning that Strayer worked at Dunlo, on July 3 sent Block and a deputy named Bender after the two men. When they reached a point between South Fork and Dunlo they got out at a store kept by John Miller and asked whether the men had been seen. It was here that the officers met Knepper, Duty and Wendell. The reply was that they had not. Soon after, however, the two men came down the street. The two officers started after them, Block remarking that he believed they were the ones wanted. Strayer had seen the buggy by this time and suspected who was in it. He counselled with Blake and finally both started back the way they had come when they saw the officers after them. They then started on a run, when Officer Block fired on them without giving them warning. Strayer stopped, but his companion continued on and finally escaped. Deputy Bender had in the meanwhile taken charge of Strayer and took him back to the store. He was asked if he had a warrant and he replied that he had not. Block by this time had also returned, and after some conversation with Strayer, said he was sorry he had shot him; that he only shot to frighten them; that a warrant was not necessary, and that they could both go free. Finally Block took Strayer to a physician in South Fork. The witnesses all agreed that Block did not call on the men to halt.

The coroner's jury rendered the following verdict:

"That the deceased came to his death by a bullet wound inflicted by a revolver in the hands of Christ Block."

On Monday afternoon Block appeared before Alderman Leiman in Johnstown, waived a hearing and was committed to jail. He was brought up on Tuesday morning.

A Nut for Cambria to Crack.

The act for Cambria county was passed the 26th of March, 1804. By this act Cambria township was separated from Somerset and went into the county to which it appears to have given its name.

One would suppose that the new county was at once formed, but it does not altogether look so and our local historians are somewhat worried to know as to when the new county to which Somerset contributed a portion of her territory was really formed.

It is found that Cambria township is carried on the assessment record of Somerset county as late as the year 1808; 1809 is missing and 1810 does not show it any longer. Can it be possible that the new county of Cambria was not formed for a matter of four or five years after the act?

If formed immediately after its passage, why was Cambria township carried on our assessment for so many years?

Can our Cambria county friends throw any light on this? The time for their own centennial is approaching and they may as well look up and see how old they really are.—Somerset Standard.

New York Fashion Letter.

In the make-up of the summer wardrobe for leaving town, the bicycle gown, or rather the bicycle outfit, is such an important factor that the choice of material and style is a serious question. Mohair or alpaca is a favorite fabric and is equally desirable for street and traveling costume on account of its light weight. Linen, duck and holland in tailor form, with blazer or Eton jacket and dainty cotton or silk shirts are made up for mid-summer wear. For cooler days the Norfolk jacket increases in popularity. Mohair also appears in the bathing costumes and is a serviceable fabric as it does not easily absorb water. The "Trilby" jackets, now so popular, are very pretty in mohair, lined with bright colors and trimmed with bands of velvet or silk. These jackets are made up in the same material of the skirt as well as of pique, embroidery and linen to be worn with wool skirts. Fancy waists are more abundant, more varied and more attractive than ever. The styles, fabrics and trimming with their Dresden and Watteau effects are ideal.

Delicate white toilettes are exquisitely trimmed with Louis XV ribbons and Marie Antoinette berthas. Large Leghorn hats massed with flowers of every hue add the final touch of picturesque effect. In looking over the new fashion magazines at hand we find the "Paris Album of Fashion," "La Mode de Paris," "The French Dressmaker" and "La Mode," published by A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York City, unusually attractive this month.

"La Mode de Paris" and "Paris Album of Fashion" cost $3.50 each for a year's subscription, or 35 cents a copy. "The French Dressmaker" is $3.00 per annum, or 30 cents a copy; and "La Mode" $1.50 a year, or 15 cents a copy. If you are unable to procure either of these journals from your newsdealer don't take any substitute, but apply by mail to Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York City.

Obituary.

COONS.—Died at the residece of his parents at Wildwood Springs, Allegheny township, on Monday evening, June 24, 1895, Leo A., son of Thos. A. and Mary Coons, aged 15 years, 11 months and 7 days.

A severe attack of the grip in the latter part of the winter led step by step to a complication of pulmonary troubles, terminating a life that had a short time before seemed so full of hope and promise to himself as well as to his bereaved parents. Always quick and ready to make himself helpful to those about him, and faithful to his religious duties, Leo had won for himself a valued place in his home as well as such esteem in the hearts of all his acquaintances, that his untimely death will long be lamented, not only in the family circle, but in the community in which he lived. The funeral took place on the Wednesday morning succeeding his death, when, after a High Mass of Requium at St. Michael's church, Loretto, interment was made in the parish cemetery at that place. T.

Found Dead in Bed.

Rev. William F. Horn, of Johnstown, a preacher of the Evangelical Association, was found dead in bed at the residence of Mr. Abram Fresh, in Jackson township, on last Sunday morning about 7 o'clock. Mr. Horn went to the residence of Mr. Fresh on Saturday evening to remain all night, intending the next day to hold services in the Fairview church.

He retired about 10 o'clock and seemed to be in good health. On being called in the morning for breakfast, he made no answer, and Mr. Fresh opened the door to his room. He was surprised to see Mr. Horn's head hanging over the side of the bed, and on going to him, found he was dead but his body still warm. He had been subject to spasms and no doubt was attacked with one at an early hour in the morning. He was about 34 years of age and leaves a wife and two children. His remains were taken to Johnstown and on Tuesday afternoon interred in Grand View cemetery.

—Sixteen freight cars were wrecked between Wilmore and Portage on Wednesday evening July 3rd, by a rear end collision.

Wrong as Usual.

"Last week Jury Commissioners Miller and Weakland and Sheriff Coulter filled the jury wheel" etc.—Gosling.

Sheriff Coulter and the jury commissioners last week did nothing of the kind. They drew the names from the wheel for the several jury panels at September court, but they did not fill the wheel, our neighbor to the contrary notwithstanding. If they did it would be a "funny business" and sufficient to again upset the court.

—The water mains have been extended a couple of squares east from Centre street on Horner street.

DENTISTRY.

Do you know we are taking out teeth every day without one particle of pain? Well, we are doing this very thing with "Odontunder," the only local anæsthetic that has stood the test and to-day it is the only one that is used universally by dentists who are up to date in their calling.

The price for "Odontunder" when painless is 50 cents, but if you experience the least pain, we only charge you the usual price, 25 cents.

How about those teeth that need filling? Well, you say they don't ache. That's just the reason why you should have them filled now. After they have ached once you will probably have to have the nerve killed and the tooth treated if you are desirious of saving it. I only charge 50 cents for amalgum fillings and from $1.00 up for gold fillings. These are hard-time prices but they go just the same. Why procrastinate?—that's a big word but it's a good one right here because procrastination means to the patient loss of sleep, neuralgia, ear-ache, tooth-ache and goodness knows what else. We know of a good many young ladies of our acquaintance who would have been married long ago if it hadn't been for those horrid-looking teeth. Remember, to every patient having teeth filled I give a box of Dr. Richards' tooth powder and full instructions for the care of the teeth. On the 13th of each month I will extract teeth free of charge. You say why use the 13th. Well, now, that's my business. All you have to do is to come. Remember I won't take out your good teeth, because I don't believe in it. Then you say suppose the 13th falls on Sunday. Come right along and we will be only too glad to relieve you of the offending member.

A BIG GLASS COMBINE.

Manufacturers of the Window Product Get Together.

A 25 PER CENT RAISE IN PRICES.

After 10,000 Boxes Are Disposed of, a Further Increase Will Be Made—In a Few Weeks the Combine Will Control the Market—Good For Workers.

ANDERSON, Ind., July 10.—The greatest combination the windowglass industry has known has been consummated here. For some time the price of glass has been about as low as it was possible to make it for, caused by competition. During the past year just closed, 12 companies west of Pittsburg have refused to sell their product, and as a result their warehouses have been filled. The remaining 19 plants west of Pittsburg have sold their glass and as a result the end of the season found 580,000 boxes of glass in warehouses. The 12 companies that have been working on the quiet had 360,000 of these, and half of the remaining 20,000 boxes will not be fit to move for breakge and assortment. The 10,000 boxes will be exhausted in a couple of weeks and then the combine will have the market in their own hands.

The factories east of Pittsburg have a big trade of their own. They only have 200,000 boxes available and they are held by the McKee, the Avermore, the Jeanette and one of the plants in Pittsburg. They will not ship east and will raise their prices to correspond with the gas belt manufacturers. A raise of 25 per cent on all windowglass has been made, and after 10,000 boxes are disposed of the price will go still higher.

According to the workers union the plants cannot open before Sept. 1, and the fact that the workers will demand the restoration of the 22½ per cent cut of last year will make the other manufacturers make this concession if they start their mills.

This will not be done unless they accede to the raise. They would loose heavily and could not get a decent market before the 1st of October. By this time the demand will be filled and it is thought all of the stock sold. The combination will be known as the Reynolds Selling agency, and headquarters were opened and are in the Anthony block at Muncie, where all selling will be made from. Phil Matter is president, J. D. Vanderbilt is vice president, and Thomas Hart of Muncie is secretary. Charles Lastman, the youngest glass factory manager in the United States and secretary of the Anderson, the largest concern, will be the acting president and will have charge of the office.

The factories that are in belong to the Indiana gas belt. They are: The Anderson, Ely, Jones & Bower of Muncie; American, Gas City; Marion Window Glass company, Stewart-Esbep, Marion; the Alexandria and the Victor, Anderson; Indiana, Pendleton; Maring, Hart & Co. and Oliver, Muncie; Geus, Dunkirk, and the Bellaire of Redmon.

MRS. M'KEE RIDES ONE.

Gen. Harrison Denies He Opposes Woman Mounting the Wheel.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10.—The attention of General Benjamin Harrison being called to an alleged interview, published in New York, in which he was made to say that he was opposed to the use of bicycles by women, he was quick to deny having said what was attributed to him.

"I have," said the ex-president, "talked with no newspaper man on such a subject. I may have said something to personal friends on the subject, but my views are not in accord with the views expressed in that article. I expect it is another one of those madcap articles for which New York newspaper men are famous."

Only last week a local bicycle firm shipped two wheels to Saratoga, one for Mrs. McKee, General Harrison's daughter, and the other for her son.

Denver Wheelman Got First Prize.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 10.—Every incoming train brings wheelmen and this place is almost full of them. As the principal racing events do not take place until tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, it is confidently expected that the great number of visitors already on the ground will be largely augmented before the week is out. After the parade the Denver wheelmen were awarded first prize, a silk banner for the best dressed club, and the one making the biggest showing and second prize banner for greatest number in line. The Pennsylvania wheelman of Philadelphia got the third prize banner for the second largest number in line, and the Keystone of Pittsburg fourth banner for the third largest number in line.

FEDERAL SOLDIERS' COLONY.

First Settlers Arrive In Georgia—15,000 More Expected.

ATLANTA, July 10.—The first of the settlers in the big Federal Soldiers' colony, to be established in southwest Georgia, organized by ex-Governor Northen, has arrived and are arranging for those who are to follow. P. H. Fitzgerald of Ohio will soon reach here to pay the first installment of $125,000 on the purchase price of $500,000.

The colony has been staked off and its town site, which will be called Northen City, will spring into life in a few months upon the arrival of the first 15,000 colonists. They are expected to come after the harvest in August, in an immense wagon train.

THE GRAND TRUNK WRECK.

Thirteen Killed and 25 Injured In the Province of Quebec.

QUEBEC, July 10.—Thirteen were killed and 25 injured by the terrible wreck on the Grand Trunk railway, 14 miles west of Levis. All were Canadians.

A very large pilgrimage from Sherbrooke, Windsor Mills and Richmond had left the latter town for the shrine of St. Ann de Beaupre. There were two sections of the train, one running a few minutes behind the other. The first section was standing at the Craig's Road station taking water when the second section, passing the semaphore, dashed into the rear of the first train, causing the terrible loss of life and destruction of railroad property.

To Be Hung For Killing Newell.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 10.—Marion W. Van Houten, recently convicted of the murder of Richard Newell, Jr., has been sentenced to hang during the week commencing July 28.

2,000 People Made Homeless.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 10.—Fire has destroyed 230 houses in the town of Sambrow, government of Lomsha, Poland. Two thousand persons are rendered homeless by the conflagration.

Forty Workmen Perished.

ALEXANDRIA, July 10.—A caisson of the big bridge now building at Nage Hamed, by a French firm, has collapsed and 40 workmen perished.

Pugilist Farrell Sent to Prison.

DENVER, July 10.—Lawrence Farrell, the pugilist convicted of highway robbery, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

Captain Devinney Dead.

CINCINNATI, July 10.—Captain H. H. Devinney, who was steamboat hull inspector here for 28 consecutive years, is dead.

CORNELL AWARDED THE RACE.

Leander Crew Failed to Start When the Umpire Gave the Word.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 10.—The first day of the fifty-sixth anniversary of the Water Derby of Great Britain was a disappointment to all concerned. Cornell was pitted against the crew of the Leander Boat club, composed of ex-Oxford and Cambridge oarsmen and said to be the strongest on the river.

There was some confusion at the start, owing to the presence near the starting line of a number of boats which seriously interfered with Leander. Consequently, the latter were somewhat slow in getting into position. Then, when the umpire asked if the two crews were ready, Cornell promptly answered "yes," and, the umpire claims, Leander did the same. This the Leanders deny. In any case, the umpire gave the word "go" and the Cornell crew shot away. But only half the Leander crew started and their stroke protested that they were not ready. In spite of this the umpire allowed Cornell to pull over the course and awarded the Americans the race. The Leanders have lodged a protest against the umpire's decision and it was referred to the board of stewards. But the board will not change the decision.

A PLAGUE OR A FLY.

Something Causing Mysterious Deaths at Blossburg, Pa.

VICTIMS SWELL UP AND DIE.

The Mysterious Malady Appears to Result From Poison Caused by a Bite—Excited People Think It Either a Plague or Poisonous Insect.

WELLSBORO, Pa., July 10. The physicians attached to the state hospital at Blossburg, this county, are trying to solve the mystery surrounding peculiar cases of apparent poisoning that have been brought to their attention. A few days ago Jacob Rymska of Blossburg died presumably from the effects of a bite from some insect, as he stated that he felt a sting under his eye soon after going to bed. He died two days afterward. Since that time there have been three similar cases in that town, one of them proving fatal. In the case of Rymska the patient's head swelled to enormous proportions and his death was caused by suffocation occasioned by the terrible swelling.

Last week Henry Dyke of Richmond was taken to the state hospital suffering from the effects of a poisonous bite on the top of his bald head. His eyes were swollen shut, his head was greatly swollen and it was considered a dangerous case, although he now seems to be improving.

Joseph Wituski, a workman in the Blossburg tannery, thought he had been bitten on the cheek by a mosquito recently, but the small pimple continued to swell until the man's head was a sight to behold. He suffered terrible pain, but recovered.

The 3-year-old child of Jacob Losiniocki, also of Blossburg, has died recently from the same disease.

A small pimple appeared under the child's left eye. Two days later the little one's head had swollen to remarkable proportions and death followed in great agony.

In the fatal cases the bodies turned to a dark color almost immediately after death. It is reported that a number of cattle have died in that region lately with the same mysterious symptoms. The physycians are unable to explain the matter. The people of the neighborhood are excited, some claiming that a poisonous fly has been imported, while others maintain that it is a plague and not the bite of an insect.

$75,000 FORGED BONDS

Broker Lewis of Urbana, O. Has Gotten Into Trouble.

IS MISSING AND CAN'T BE FOUND.

A Run on His Bank at Ansonia Closes Up That Institution — He Mortgaged His Property For $78,000 Before Leaving. His Wife Very Ill.

URBANA, O., July 10.—The affairs of Z. T. Lewis, the broker, are causing a big sensation here. Forged bonds have already turned up to the amount of $75,000. It is believed the amount will reach over $100,000. Twenty thousand dollars in fraudulent bonds are known to be in existence from Highland county, $25,000 Kenton City school bonds and $10,000 in Tippecanoe City school bonds.

Lewis gave a mortgage on his property Monday for $78,000. Lewis suddenly disappeared Monday night and all traces of him are lost. Searching parties have been out, but nothing has been heard of him since. The bank of which he is president at Ansonia has been closed by a run on it. Mrs. Lewis is very low at the hospital. His son and daughter are in eastern schools.

Lewis has bought and sold during the past year $3,000,000 worth of bonds, and there is much uncertainty among those who have had dealings with him. More of his fraudulent bonds are turning up. Mortgages and judgments against Lewis aggregating over $40,000 have been taken since Tuesday morning. It is believed that Lewis has taken his life.

An Ansonia (O.) special says: Z. T. Lewis, a bonddealer of Urbana, O., built a large 3 story business block here four years ago and together with James Stewart began a banking business. It has developed that some of Lewis' bonds of Highland county were only forgeries, and those having money in the bank withdrew it, and in a short time the money was short. When some of the business men discovered that Lewis had placed a $50,000 mortgage on his business block in Ansonia.

This scared them so much that they at once demanded security, and most of them received notes on the bank as collateral security. Great excitement prevails.
